

the breast of one to the breast of the other, a broad white silk ribbon on which was lettered:

"A Victim of the Black Hand."

"We Demand Justice."

Behind the coffin marched twenty-five little girls in white, carrying floral tributes which were so heavy they stumbled under them.

Salvatore Varotta refused to ride in a carriage behind the hearse, but, halting, took his station in the street behind the children bearing flowers, waving his hands as he walked.

The detectives working on the abduction and drowning of the boy have satisfied themselves that the cupid of the kidnappers was excited by the belief that wealthy philanthropists were interested in the Varotta family and would contribute liberally to meet such an emergency as the ransom of Varotta's children if one were stolen.

HOW RUMORS MAY HAVE LED TO CRIME.

Adolfo Varotta, an older brother of Giuseppe, was injured by an automobile while ago and through settlement workers funds were provided for his treatment and for bringing a suit against the owner of the automobile. Rumors go abroad that connected the name of Mrs. A. J. Dreddel Biddle Jr. with this charity, but Mrs. Biddle said to-day that she had never heard of the Varotta family before the kidnapping.

Miss Anna Hets of the Bellevue Social Service organization, who has been much with the family in its recent trials, said to-day that other members of the Biddle family had been kind to the Varottas, but she was not at liberty to specify their benefactors.

Among the letters received by Salvatore Varotta to-day was one from Oscar A. Youngren of No. 11 Broadway; he enclosed a check for $25 and counseled the father through all his grief to be brave and resilient in aiding the authorities as a help to protect other innocent families on whom the hand may seek to prey in the future if not brought to justice.

Roberto Raffaele and John Melchione, two of the five prisoners already under indictment for the kidnapping, were confronted yesterday by Tony Salidini and Joseph Margolli, two of the additional four arrested immediately after the finding of little Giuseppe's body. These last two have been close friends of the Varotta family. The men swore they did not know each other. Assistant District Attorney Dineen said he was sure they were lying.

It was brought out to-day that Mrs. Varotta had talked with Mrs. Salidini, the man's mother, several days before Giuseppe disappeared, and that she had spoken boastfully of the amount of money she and her husband had, and of their cheap automobile, and said they could "easily have afforded $2,000 or $3,000 for it."

JOHN C. EMERY IS NEW LEGION HEAT

Unanimously Elected to Succeed Col. Galbraith, Killed at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 14.—John C. Emery of Grand Rapids, Minn., was unanimously elected National Commander of the American Legion at a meeting of the National Executive Committee to-day. He succeeds Col. Frederick W. Galbraith Jr., who was killed in an automobile accident here last Thursday.

Major Emery saw much of the fighting during the American troops' participation in the World War. He entered the second officers' training camp at Fort Sheridan Aug. 27, 1917, was commissioned a Captain of Infantry and sent to France with the first group of Americans. Later he took charge of company F, 18th Infantry, 1st Brigade, 1st Division, and participated in all the major actions with his regiment in 1918 at Cantigny in April, May and June, at St. Mihiel in September and in the Meuse-Argonne offensive in September and October. He was commissioned a major of Infantry Aug. 30, 1918. He was wounded during the Meuse-Argonne drive. He is a member of the Grand Rapids City Commission.

MORE MURDERS IN CHICAGO THAN IN NEW YORK

Figures Show Big Drop in Violent Deaths Here During 1921.

Chicago and New York, the country's largest cities, led all others in the number of murders for the first six months of 1921. Despite the difference in population, Chicago reported more violent deaths in that period than New York. The totals for 1920 were not far apart, Chicago having 302 for that year and New York 344.

During the first six months of 1921 there were 109 murders in one city, less than one-third the total for 1920. Chicago for the same period had 160 murders—more than half of last year's total. Cincinnati, with 27 for the first six months of this year, has more than in all of 1920 when there were only 26 murders.

JUMPS FROM "L" TO TREE, BANDIT FALLS; IS DYING

Breaks His Back When Branch Gives Way, Throws Him to Street.

GOT $1,200 IN HOLDUP

Highwayman Supposed to Be James McGarry—Owed Rent for Room.

Stephen Flannery, a collector for a chain of grocery stores, was held up in the Bronx at noon to-day and robbed of $1,200. The hold-up man in making his escape jumped from the elevated railroad tracks to a tree, which broke and threw him to the street. He is dying of a broken back in the Fordham Hospital.

Flannery lives at No. 1860 Jerome Avenue. At 12:10 o'clock he came from his home, which is over a store where he had made a collection. As he stepped into a small automobile a man asked him for a lift and was admitted into the auto. Flannery had with him a wallet, envelopes taken from various stores containing his collections. This was on the seat of the car.

Before they had gone more than a few feet the man said to Flannery, "Turn around and go south."

"Why?" asked Flannery.

"Because I tell you to," was the answer. "You are going where I tell you to." Flannery looked and saw the man had a revolver in one hand and his wallet with the money in the other.

"If you are going to hold that thing on me you will drive this car," said Flannery, but he turned south and the fellow got out, saying:

"Now beat it."

Flannery took the advice and a block and a half from Featherbed Lane and Jerome Avenue, where the bandit had left him, he met Police-man Lorber of the Kingsbridge station. They turned the car around and started after the bandit, who was heading north, making for the 176th Street station of the Lexington Avenue subway elevated extension. The hold-up man reached the station and ran up the stairs on the downtown side in time to miss a train.

When the policeman and Flannery reached the station their man had taken to the elevated track and was walking along it. He had travelled nearly 100 yards when they jumped down and were after him. Then they saw him disappear.

At this point a large tree branches out from the sidewalk and throws its limbs almost to the structure. The hold-up man had taken the only chance open to him and made a leap into the branches of the tree, catching one of the outstretched limbs. The limb he had leaped for and caught, while apparently sound, was rotten in the center, and had broken as he swung his weight upon it. He crashed to the ground, and when the pursuers reached the spot they found him near the curb on the sidewalk groaning.

An ambulance was called from Fordham Hospital. The surgeon said his back was broken, that he had other injuries, and was dying. He was rushed to the institution. In his pocket was found the roll of bills he had taken from Flannery.

A letter found indicated he is James McGarry of No. 620 Lexington Avenue, a rooming house. The landlady said a man named James McGarry had a room there, that he owed two weeks' rent and had not been home since Sunday. She did not know who he was or what he had done for a living, but said he had a sister and brother-in-law living somewhere in the city.

The hold-up brought forth another story of an attempted hold-up earlier in the day along Jerome Avenue at 182d Street. At this the police say they have no report.

According to this story, the wife of a prominent wealthy citizen interested in the city, was driving in a closed automobile, when at 182d Street, where the car had been forced to slow down, a man came running alongside it, tapping and making signs for her to stop. She became frightened and the chauffeur sped away.

ASK IRISH RECOGNITION.

Two Resolutions Urging Harding to Act Are Before Aldermen.

Two resolutions favoring recognition of Irish independence by the United States are being considered by the Board of Aldermen. William T. Collins, Tammany floor leader, and August Ferrand, Republican floor leader, introduced one resolution. Alderman Stephen E. Roberts is the author of the other.

The Collins-Ferrand resolution requests President Harding, "in conformity with precedents well established and practice frequently exercised, to recognize the elected Government of the Republic of Ireland." Both resolutions will be voted on next Tuesday.

Moore Believed Affected by War Experiences.

(Special to The Evening World.)

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—Kirk Moore lived at St. David's in the fashionable main line colony and was married and 27 years of age. He was a son-in-law of Dr. G. L. Jamison. He held an important position with the Surpass Leather Company of Philadelphia.

Soon after the body of Mr. Moore had been removed to the West 20th Street Station a man appeared there who introduced himself as "Mr. Moore of the Commercial Trust Company." He said he represented the young man's family and sought the use of the station telephone to reach Commissioner Enright to ask that all information to the public about Mr. Moore's suicide be suppressed.

SON OF BROKER LEAPS 17 STORIES TO DEATH AT HOTEL

search of the pockets of the dead man a letter obviously from his mother was found. It read:

"Dear Children: I am gaining every day. Have taken a cottage for the month of July. Papa will stay until the Fourth. Hope he stays longer. The Catskills are lovely. Tell me about the wedding. A big kiss for Sonny. Love, 'MAMMA'."

There was also a card photograph of a notably beautiful girl in a bridal gown.

There was a license taken out in Pennsylvania by Kirk Moore of Lancaster Pike, St. David's, Delaware County, to drive a Ford automobile, and a card inscribed: "In case of accident or if I am arrested for speeding, please notify G. L. Jamison, No. 1429 Spruce Street, Philadelphia."

Another letter addressed to Kirk Moore indicated his connection with the Surpass Leather Company of Philadelphia.

Soon after the body of Mr. Moore had been removed to the West 20th Street Station a man appeared there who introduced himself as "Mr. Moore of the Commercial Trust Company." He said he represented the young man's family and sought the use of the station telephone to reach Commissioner Enright to ask that all information to the public about Mr. Moore's suicide be suppressed.

MRS. KABER LOSES ALL HOPE FOR SELF; MARIAN INNOCENT

Woman Says Daughter Is the Innocent Victim of Circumstances.

CLEVELAND, June 14.—"I have given up hope. My case is hopeless. I realize now that under the circumstances nothing I can say will either help me or hurt me. I want to make clear, however, that Marian is just an innocent victim of circumstances."

This was the statement of Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber according to police here to-day. Both she and her daughter were arrested by a former marriage, Marian McArdle, now are under indictment on a first degree murder charge in connection with the killing of Daniel F. Kaber, wealthy Lakewood publisher.

Edward E. Stanton, County Prosecutor, is at work to-day on the theory that Covalito, who is said to have confessed to part in the Kaber killing, was the person who stabbed the victim to death in his home here. Stanton said that he believed that two foreigners were present at the time of the murder, but that the knife was wielded by the woman herself.

At the same time Prosecutor Stanton announced that a woman fortune teller, her daughter, son and son-in-law had promised to make complete statements covering their entire knowledge of the affair.

Silver which Mrs. Kaber reported to the police as having been stolen on the night of the murder was recovered last night from the home of the fortune teller, where the latter and her daughter stated, it was placed by Mrs. Kaber three days before the murder.

The story of the fortune teller and her daughter coincides with that told by Miss McArdle to the New York police last week, that she paid open the buffet door three days before the murder and that her mother removed the silver.

It is contradictory, however, of the story Mrs. Kaber told the day following her arrest in New York. At that time she said if the police found the silver and the persons who stole it, they would find the murderer.

The fortune teller and her daughter declared they could identify the men who were hired to commit the murder. They declared the men came to their home several times and threatened not only their lives but those of other members of the family unless they induced Mrs. Kaber to pay them $5,000, which they claimed was promised in consideration for the murder.

Following the questioning, the fortune teller was released pending further investigation.

It was learned that the two foreigners who are believed to have actually stabbed Kaber went to Joseph Kaber, brother of the dead man, some time after the murder and offered to show him a woman "who could tell all about the murder."

They took him to a place and pointed out a house where Mrs. Covalito lived, according to the brother's statement, and tried to collect the reward. Their efforts failed, however, when they refused to give out any further information.

WATCHMAN BOUND BY BANDITS, SEES THEM BLOW SAFE

Robbers in Newark Office Escape With $900 in Cash and $1,500 Liberty Bonds.

Two bandits held up Joseph Meier, a watchman for Gould & Eberhardt, machinists, in Chancellor Avenue, Newark, near North Irvington, to-day, and bound him to a chair in the company's office, where he watched them blow open the safe. They obtained between $800 and $900 in cash, and $1,500 in Liberty bonds owned by an employee.

Three hours after they left, Meier freed himself and called the Newark and Irvington police.

Meier said he was on duty outside the plant, when two men approached from behind, ordered him to put up his hands, and robbed him of $1,600. Both were armed, and one was masked.

Meier watched them pry off the safe combination and set a charge in the safe door. There was an explosion, and the safe door fell outward. The men then rifled the safe, and took out a strong box, which they carried to another room. Meier said he could hear them forcing it, and a few minutes later the men went through the office to the street, and he heard an automobile starting away.

While they were working on the safe, Meier said that the men addressed each other as "Nick" and "Mack."

The police found a crowbar, a coil of wire and a flashlight battery which the bandits left behind.

VASSAR HAS RAISED OVER A MILLION

Salary Endowment Fund Is Now Lacking $2,000,000—264 Graduates.

POUGHKEEPSIE, June 14.—Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, President of Vassar College, announced to-day that $1,000,000 has been raised toward the $3,000,000 salary endowment fund. Of this Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Pratt of Brooklyn gave $500,000.

Vassar College to-day graduated 264 students in the senior class of 1921. The commencement exercises were held this morning in the college chapel. President MacCracken made the address to the graduates. His subject was "A Citizen of the World." He urged better international relations and less selfishness among the nations.

Among the students who received diplomas to-day were thirty-one who were on the honor list.

PEACE SHIP BLAZE LAID TO FIREBUG

Second Fire in Two Weeks Will Not Delay Sailing of the George Washington.

Henry Dendel, superintendent of the Hoboken yards where the Wilson peace ship George Washington was damaged again by fire yesterday, to-day said the blaze, as well as the one of two weeks ago, was of incendiary origin. The damage the first time was about $50,000 and yesterday about $15,000.

"There were no wires, no torches, nothing to kindle a spark in the room where the fire started," said F. R. Mayer of the U. S. Mail S. S. Co., to which the ship is under charter. "Smoking by the workmen making repairs means instant dismissal."

The fire was discovered while 200 men were aboard. The water poured into the ship caused her to list badly. Five workmen were injured and one carried thousands of troops to France. She was used by President Wilson and his party on two trips to the Peace Conference.

Mr. Mayer said the ship would be ready to sail July 30.

SEIZED LIQUOR TRUCK SOLD.

Brings $800 at First Auction of Its Kind in Brooklyn.

Under the direction of United States Marshal Power, a three-ton motor truck, seized with a load of liquor several months ago at Coney Island, was sold at auction yesterday in front of the Federal Building in Brooklyn. It was the first sale of the kind held there.

The truck was knocked down for $800 to the Mutual Finance Corporation of Boston, which had a lien on it.

WARNS A. F. OF L. IT CANNOT SOLVE IRISH PROBLEM

British Labor Leader Talks After Irish Sympathizers Pass Boycott Resolution.

DENVER, June 14.—Warning against any agitation that might disrupt the American labor movement, James H. Thomas, British labor leader, told the American Federation of Labor Convention to-day that it could not solve the Irish problem.

"For 100 years we in England have been confronted with the problem of Ireland, and if we at home cannot solve that problem, how can you, 3,000 miles away, expect to solve it," he said. Mr. Thomas, who is President of the International Federation of Trade Unions, addressed the convention as a fraternal delegate from the British Trades Union Congress.

"British labor," Mr. Thomas continued, "has always stood and stands now for liberty. We stand for home rule for Ireland."

"Let me warn you against any agitation that might disrupt your movement here in America by creating differences among yourselves. Do not mistake me. British labor stands for Irish freedom; the only limitation we insist is that Ireland shall not be allowed to become a menace."

"For one hundred years the people of Ireland have been deceived. For one hundred years they have been fed upon promises—broken promises, by British statesmen. Now the Irish people are looking to you."

"I warn you against trying to create in their minds the feeling that you can solve their difficulties. You can't solve by passing resolutions this problem that has existed for the past one hundred years."

After the British leader had answered several questions regarding the acts of the military in Ireland President Samuel Gompers stopped further debate.

The factional disputes among the Irish sympathizers in the American Federation of Labor are assuming a more interesting phase. The advocates of Irish freedom have appointed a committee to draft a resolution that would be satisfactory to both the extreme and conservative groups of the assemblage.

The "official resolutions" called for a boycott, not only on British-made goods but on all products made by English capital, and the boycott of British insurance companies and similar business organizations.

Many delegates have announced opposition to the "official resolutions," and have presented to the committee a resolution demanding recognition of the Irish by the United States, withdrawal of British troops from Ireland, and repayment by England of the $3,000,000 loaned to her by the United States. Four other resolutions of similar character have also been submitted.
